The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary
Agricultural Council

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the third in a series of articles by Ralph H. Taylor analyzing the Ham and Eggs pension act as it relates to the farmer.

California farmers have reason to know, from bitter, harsh experience, that when consumer purchasing power is cut down by economic upheavals, prices of farm products usually go into a tailspin—and the farming industry pays the bill in enormous losses!

During the past ten years of depressed markets and ruinous prices, thousands of California farmers have gone to the wall. Other thousands, who are still hanging on, determined to weather the storm, will be deeply in debt for years to come.

Demoralized markets have taken a terrific toll from California agriculture — and California farmers certainly can't afford to repeat the experience. For that reason, more than any other, this writer appeals to farmers to get the facts concerning the vicious 30-Thousand pension proposal — and then to get to work, educating their friends and neighbors, so that a united farm vote can be marshaled against it.

For if 30-Every-Thursday becomes a law of California, the California farming industry will be faced with another period of demoralized markets and shattered price schedules—with consumers attempting to buy farm products with devaluated Ham and Egg Warrants, and with California's purchasing power for California commodities drastically reduced.

Farmers need to read the handwriting on the wall, read it well—and then get into action to avert disaster.

Consider these simple facts: The 30-Thursday scheme is based on the "something-for-nothing" fallacy — a fallacy that farmers should recognize better than other classes of citizens, because farmers know they must plant to reap; they must work to produce.

If it passes, California, for the period it remains on the statute books, will have succeeded from the Union, at least economically, for California will have a kind of "money" recognized nowhere else in the United States. Yet California farmers, who are expected to deal in this "funny money," must do business in every state in the nation and in foreign markets to dispose of their products.

Home markets (California markets) would be completely demoralized—for 30-Thursday "dollar" warrants, at the time of issue, would be worth 4 cents less than nothing. Yet they would be in general circulation, with tens of thousands of bewildered citizens demanding that they be accepted at face value.

And every time a farmer pasted a 2-cent stamp on the back of a "dollar" warrant, he would depress the price of his products by exactly that amount. If he refused to accept such warrants, he would be penalized with a 3 per cent transactions tax—which would cut the value of

Sponsors "Do Not Have Welfare Of Citizens At Heart" Charged

Declaring that the proposed "ham and eggs plan" is a menace to the financial, social and economic stability of the state and charging that it is sponsored "by parties who do not have the welfare of the citizens of California at heart," the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce went on record against Proposition One on the special election ballot of November 7th at its meeting Monday night.

The proposition had been referred to a committee of the Chamber of Commerce for review at its September meeting following discussion as to whether the subject was one which the chamber might properly act upon.

A large majority of those present at the September meeting held that the proposition was more economic than political, and that therefore the Chamber of Commerce would be within the scope of its contemplated activity in considering and publicly declaring itself with regard to the plan.

Two new members were approved following the report of the membership committee. They are, Dr. Hyn-ton I. Sharrman, of Placerville, and Arthur Mart, of the Garden Valley store.

Secretary Wallace Ripley reported on the chamber's recent activity to discourage violations of the automobile parking rules in the county seat, which tends to result in a filling up of parking spaces by cars which block the parking areas to tourist visitors. He reported that the co-operation of business men and their employees has helped to make this project a success.

Secretary Ripley said the city officials have suggested that members of the organization give an expression of opinion relative to whether Center street should be made a one-way street, and if so "which way." The subject was discussed and continued for further study.

The secretary reviewed the visit

Reckers Family Ends Vacation

Ten-Thousand-Mile Auto Trip Concluded Monday; Doctor "Ready For Duty"

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Reckers and daughter, Miss Florence Reckers, returned Monday evening to Placerville from a ten-thousand-mile automobile vacation trip and the doctor reported at his offices Tuesday morning, as he said, "ready for duty."

They were accompanied on their trip by Mrs. C. A. Swisher, of Sacramento.

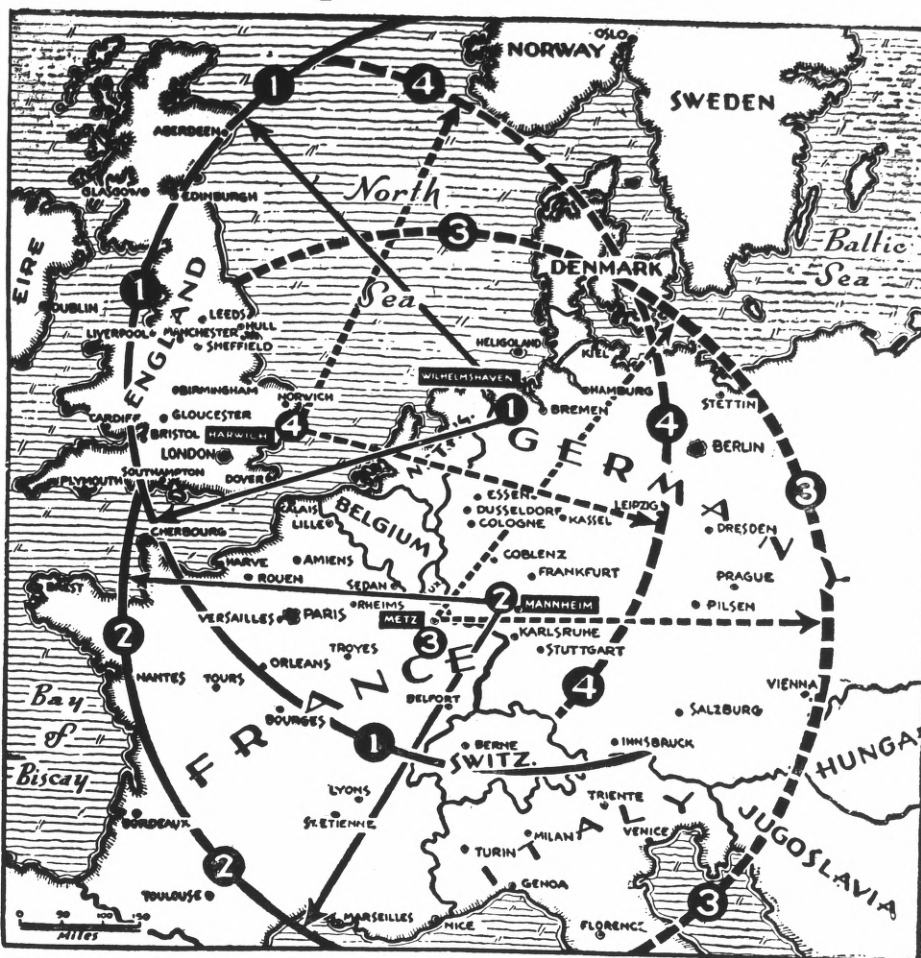

Dr. Reckers reports their trip spanned seven weeks and took them to Niagara Falls and thence into Canada in the province of Ontario and eastward through Quebec, thence down the east coast to Portsmouth, where they saw the ill-fated submarine, Squalus.

Continuing southward they visited the New York world's fair and then in Washington and, still following the sea-board, went as far south as St. Augustine, Florida, returning to California by the southern route with a stop at Boulder Dam, and a trip through Death Valley.

Robert McMahon, driver for the Sterling Lumber Company, suffering a broken right leg and a dislocation of his right ankle Saturday when he was caught under a part of a load of lumber which fell from a truck he was unloading on Main Street at the new building being erected approximately opposite the Upper Fairchild building. The fracture was reduced at Placerville Sanatorium where the patient is resting easily.

The regular meeting of the Kelsey Farm Center for October will be held Friday night at Kelsey hall.

Europe's Circles of Death

Areas which fall within the range of bombing planes operating out of Europe's warring powers are pictured on this map. Average range of a fully-loaded bomber is 500 miles. German planes will most likely take off from Wilhelmshaven (1) and will be able to operate anywhere within the No. 1 circle. This area could be increased by basing at Mannheim (2). French and British bombers are based at Metz (3), while the British home force will operate from Harwich (4).

FITZGERALDS HALT TRIP

Will Return Home With Daughter As Soon As Passport Is Arranged

Mr. and Mrs. Edmund J. Fitzgerald, of Diamond Springs, who sailed from San Francisco September 2 on the first leg of what was to be a world tour, have abandoned their projected plans and will return home from Manila.

Their departure from the Philippine capital will be governed by the length of time required to arrange passport facilities for their daughter, Mrs. Edmonita Gonzales, who will return with them bringing home the ashes of her late husband, Dr. Frank L. A. Gonzales, who died at Manila at San Diego hospital on October 7th.

Funeral services for Dr. Gonzales were held at Manila under Masonic auspices following which the body was cremated.

This is according to an air mail letter supplementing a brief cablegram, received by Mrs. Fitzgerald's sister, Mrs. Bert Sweeney. The cable, received October 9th, told of Dr. Gonzales' death October 7th. The air mail letter, received on Monday, was just eight days out of Manila.

It reported that Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald had arrived there on October 4 to find that their daughter had recently been ill with dengue fever (a tropical disease characterized by high fever, muscle and joint pains) and that she had recovered and was nursing her husband, who had fallen ill with the same disease.

Dr. Gonzales had not been well for several months before and his weakened general condition made it impossible for him to recover from the fever which, of itself, is not commonly fatal.

Although ill when the Fitzgeralds arrived, the letter to Mrs. Sweeney said Dr. Gonzales was able to recognize them and spoke in a light vein about his being ill when company came to call from so far away.

The generally unsettled conditions around the world in sections where the Fitzgeralds had hoped to visit, coupled with the tragic passing of Dr. Gonzales, persuaded them to abandon their world tour plans.

Dr. Gonzales was a veteran of United States Navy service in the world war and was gassed in action. He has relatives in San Jose.

The condition of Doris Marsh and Pauline Ench, under treatment for infantile paralysis at the Sanatorium, was reported on Tuesday as being satisfactory. Health authorities pointed out that the county has been fortunate in that thus far no additional cases of the affliction have been noted.

Mt. Quarries Employee Victim In Industrial Accident On Tuesday

Francisco Maldonado, 37, an employee at Mountain Quarries, was killed about nine o'clock Tuesday morning by falling rock at the quarries.

This is according to a report to Coroner A. J. Orelli, with whose consent the body was moved to an Auburn mortuary.

The coroner said the particulars of the death, an accident, were not reported and that he would visit the scene Tuesday afternoon to make an investigation.

Maldonado, unmarried, is survived by his father, in Santa Fe, Old Mexico, to whom word of his son's tragic passing has been sent.

Coroner Orelli indicated that the inquest into the death may be held jointly with the formal inquest into the death of John Schmucki, killed in a logging accident, and Wesley Kessler, recent suicide.

"It's A Gag," Says Atwood, Explaining N. Y. "Welcome"

Loren Atwood, who had been away for two months taking a special training course at the headquarters of the Travelers Insurance Company at Hartford, Conn., returned home Monday night and on Tuesday morning was explaining to friends his newspaper "welcome" to the New York World's Fair.

It's a gag," he said. "They have those papers there at a booth on the fair grounds, and will print anything on them at your direction for a small fee. You can buy as many papers as you want."

Loren returned home in company with another representative of the Travelers Insurance Company, and the two made the trip from Detroit in an automobile which had been purchased by one of the employees of the Sacramento agency of the company, and which they brought west for him.

The erection of a one-story hollow tile building at a cost of $10,000 for Lewis & Lewis, plumbers, will be started on their lot on Main Street immediately east of the telephone exchange at an early date.

Howard Lewis said Tuesday that the contract for the work has been let to Bob Roberson and that work is to start "probably late this week" or in any event as soon as the residence now on the lot has been moved.

The property was purchased several months ago from Mrs. Mary Limpinsel and the residence on the lot was sold to Ray Nichols, who has made plans to move the home to a location on Broadway immediately west of the old Carson Road. Workmen are now dismantling the home preparatory to moving it.

Howard Lewis said that the firm looks forward to occupying the new building about the first of the year.

This is according to a report from Washington by the Associated Press to Sacramento papers.

Bids on the contract were opened at Washington September 29th. The new building is to be erected on property acquired by the government several months ago on Main Street immediately east of Bedford Avenue.

CITY MAPPING ROAD PROGRAM

New WPA Policies And Regulations Explained At Council Meeting

Following a conference Monday night with a Mr. Lewis, representing the Works Progress Administration in this district, the city council voted the development of a city-wide street improvement project contemplating application for WPA assistance.

Four members of the council were present, Mayor George E. Faugsted presiding. Councilman James K. Pierson was the absent.

Mr. Lewis explained the new WPA policies and regulations and members of the council were particularly interested in the statement that the city, in developing a project, is not called upon immediately to guarantee a principal sum as a contribution to the project.

It was announced that it would be possible to outline a broad program of street improvement in the city and carry out the project progressively at such time as the city was prepared to go ahead, WPA labor being then available.

The new WPA program, the speaker indicated, is interested more in the labor phase of a project than in other phases.

The councilman received an application of Leroy Wesley Haskins for a permit to operate a card room and on motion of Councilman Greeley, seconded by Councilman Molinari, the application was approved.

The salary of Pauline Watkins, as deputy city clerk, was set at $85 per month.

GERMANS TAKE OFFENSIVE

Big Scale War By Land, Sea And Air Renewed; Guns Heard Off Norway

By JOE ALEX MORRIS

U. P. Foreign News Editor

Nazi Germany was fighting back on a big scale today with land, sea and air weapons.

Powerful thrusts by the Nazi armed forces on the Saar and Moselle sector of the Rhineland front drove back allied troops.

The German high command reported that the French had retired from almost all occupied territory. The French said that 76,000 Nazi troops had pushed forward—briefly invading French soil—but had been thrown back with heavy losses by concentrated fire from the allied positions.

The main result was that the Germans succeeded in relieving pressure on the important Siegfried line city of Zweibruecken, the reports indicated.

A new series of air raid alarms aroused the English coast at mid-day. They extended from Grimsby southward to the Kentish coast, in an area dotted with shipping and fishing centers and dockyards.

A new alarm also was sounded in the Firth of Forth—scene of yesterday's German air attack—but a few hours after many thousands of persons in England and Scotland had sought shelter the "all clear" signal was given everywhere.

Acquisition Of Larger Quarters Hints Plans For Growth In Work

The Placerville Project of the Soil Conservation Service may be moved about December 1st to the Tourist Garage building.

Glenn Paxton, project manager, said Tuesday that when bids were opened recently seeking larger quarters providing for a total area of about 7,000 square feet, the Tourist Garage was the only location presented.

Although Paxton declined to comment when the matter was called to his attention, it is generally presumed that the acquisition of the larger area for the project offices must contemplate some enlargement of the scope of the Soil Conservation Service in this locality.

Whether this would be in the nature of broadening field work in the immediate vicinity or in handling through the Placerville office the work in neighboring counties could only be guessed.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK. (U)—Grid-iron: It is amazing in these days of radio, telegraph and air mail that no word seemed to have seeped south about Fordham's football greatness . . . Alabama was the first to knock the Rams loose from their press clippings, and now Tulane has beaten them from pole to pole, so to speak . . . a new record for clap pigeon shooting was established Saturday when Harvard scored a 61 to 0 victory over the University of Chicago . . . such a score seems hardly fair of fair Harvard.

Jock Sutherland sat in the press box while Pittsburgh beat a favored Duke team, and he must have felt like Enoch Arden did when he returned home after a long absence to find his wife in the arms of another man . . . in other words, the Pitt team which was supposed to collapse when Sutherland was fired, seems to be doing alright in the hands of another man.

The four-leaf clover crop at West Point must be a bumper one this year, else the cadets never would have managed a 6-6 tie with Columbia . . . the most inept team to come from the point in years was beaten to a frazzle for 57 minutes of the 60, only to tie the score in the last three minutes of the game with a pass that spanned 82 yards . . . aside from that one thrust—which went straight to the heart of Lou Little—the army was as ragged as Coney's army . . . Northwestern was hailed as the wonder team of the mid-west before the season started and it is living up to its advance notices . . . the customers are wondering when it will win a ball game . . . Northwestern's Bill Decorvont netted only three yards from scrimmage and that isn't good gaining, even in a phone booth . . . not since Sergeant Alvin York single-handedly surrounded a trench full of Germans in the World War has anyone put on such a one-man show as Tommy Harmon did as Michigan defeated Iowa, 27 to 7 . . . he was so good in scoring all of the Michigan points that even Fielding Yost stopped talking to watch him perform.

In the far west, work on a new Oregon trail, this one leading toward a Pacific conference championship, was continued as Oregon's surprise football package did a nifty job in turning back California . . . it was California's third setback of the season and prompted Coach Stubb Allison to hasten work on his raft . . . Alabama and Tennessee punched the stuffing out of their sparring partners and so will go into their game next Saturday undefeated and untied.

Conditions in Oklahoma can't possibly be as bad as John Steinbeck would have us believe in "Grapes of Wrath" when the Okie football team knocks over Northwestern one week, then follows with a 24-12 job on the best Texas University team in three years . . . if the dust bowl boys keep up with this sleight of hand work, the Carnegie Institute will be holding another investigation . . . and this time will confine it to the south-west.

My personal nomination for the eastern Rose Bowl bid, the east Stroudsburg teachers, rolled another inch closed to Pasadena by utterly routing their traditional rivals, the Shippensburg Teachers, 27 to 7 . . . wire, write or phone your congressman immediately . . . I'm a little afraid, however, that the tutors might be paired opposite the U. S. C. Trojans . . . the wooden horse of Troy was all its nickname implied in whipping Bob Zuzgke and the Fighting Illini of Illinois but don't forget that the Trojans cashed registered 323 yards to 46 . . . in another month, Jones will have more power at his command than the Consolidated Edison corporations—I hope it won't shock the alumni.

CLAIM ADJUSTOR TESTS FOR STATE SET FOR NOVEMBER 18

SACRAMENTO — A position requiring investigation of accidents, the settlement of damage claims and the development of methods of preventing accidents to state-owned equipment will be filled through regular civil service examination to be given November 18, said Louis J. Kroeger, executive officer of the state personnel board.

The state department of finance, explained Kroeger, has the responsibility of checking up on all accidents involving state-owned automotive equipment. An experienced investigator and adjustor is needed to assist in working out equitable settlements of claims arising from such accidents.

College with three years, or high school graduation with five years, of experience in investigating and adjusting automobile liability insurance claims are prerequisites to entering the examination, according to Kroeger. Ability to make thoroughgoing investigations, and complete reports, to obtain competent evidence and assisting in the

NEW FORD, MERCURY SALES START OFF WITH RUSH

DEARBORN, Mich. — More than 39,000 Ford, Mercury and Lincoln-Zephyr cars were sold at retail during the first two days the 1940 models were on display, the Ford Motor Company announced here today after tabulating reports from various branches throughout the country.

Sales, made on Friday and Saturday of last week, represent a gain of 50 per cent over sales during the first two days of the new model introductory period last year, officials said.

Still further indications of the excellent business prospects for the fall and early winter were contained in hundreds of enthusiastic telegrams from Ford dealers in all parts of the country. Dealers generally reported more buying interest on the part of the showroom visitors than at any previous new car introduction in many years.

Production of the new Ford and Mercury cars already is running well over 3000 a day and is rapidly approaching the 4000 a day mark, which is the company's goal this month.

HOW BABY ACQUIRES ABILITY TO REACH

By GARRY C. MYERS, Ph.D.

DURING the last ten years a great amount of scientific material has appeared on child development. Twenty-four years ago, before much was known or published on this general subject, the American Journal of Psychology printed a paper of mine entitled, "Grasping, Reaching and Handling." The article was based on notes I had made on my first child. Let me quote from what I said about this infant's learning to reach:

"There was such a gradual development of reaching for things that, even with the most careful observation, one dares not attempt to locate it on any one day. However, Baby apparently reached for the first time on the 94th day with a definite purpose. He was reaching for a rattle held in front of him. The object was in the natural sweep of the hand and he moved his left hand in toward it, with the right following close behind. He focused his eyes upon the object as he reached for it. . . . Four days later he readily grasped small objects when they were placed between his hands."

Later Developments

"On the 104th day he grasped an object a few inches above his chest

as he lay on his back. He also moved his right hand across his body just left of his breast bone and, with eyes focussed on my face, touched my face; but it took considerable time to make the reach. Three days later he reached out several inches from his breast bone on the same side and grasped his rattle, and later vainly attempted to grasp my hand just above his face."

"Even on the 109th day attempts to get either hand several inches across the median line of the body were attended by much effort and not much success. . . . On the 269th day, when a bracelet was hung on his ear, he reached vainly for it with the hand of the opposite side. Forty days later, when a small strip of cloth was put on his head so that it hung down between his eyes, he failed to get it after repeated trials, although he had long been able to pull a bean bag from the top of his head."

Any parent who will carefully observe the long, gradual development of the baby's learning to grasp, reach for things, roll the hand and pick up small objects with the thumb and finger, will gain considerable appreciation of what a new born infant has to learn to gain simple motor control.

sixty-five working days and only a minimum of equipment would be used, he said, the entire field being spaded by WPA labor.

The secretary asked for an expression of the membership on the matter of sending out weekly postcards bearing information on snow conditions in the winter sports area which, he said, has been done at a cost of approximately $40 per year for the past two years.

The discussion resulted in a motion being put to the effect that when and if the highway is open to a suitable snow sports area, the postcards should be sent out. However, when no suitable snow area is available on the highway, the cards should not be sent.

The matter of participating at a cost of approximately $250 in a project sportsmen's exhibit at Los Angeles in April was submitted to the chamber, discussed and tabled for future re-consideration.

County Surveyor Hoffman called attention to the coming annual Red Cross enrollment, opening on November 3, and also spoke of the great improvement on U. S. Route 50 recently completed at Nigger Turn and at Observation Point by the Division of Highways maintenance superintendent.

Hoffman suggested that if it is economical to thus improve one or two sections of the road, it appears that it would be equally economical to continue such work, particularly in the Fresh Pond hill district, where road bed might be widened and straightened with marked improvement to the road.

Colter is a disease not limited to human beings. Domestic and wild animals, birds and even fishes, are subject to it.

The deepest gold mine in the world is in Brazil. It goes more than a mile down into the earth.

The American college girl, it is said, is adopting the Greek peasant way of protecting her complexion against sunburn by taking a huge flowered handkerchief, folding it into a triangle which is put over her head. Ends are then brought forward, crossed over the nose and tied in a knot at the back of the head.

WHAT'S WHAT AT A GLANCE WASHINGTON - WORLD

By CHARLES F. STEWART

very obvious but likely to become so presently if hostilities drag out long.

Their theory is that Adolf must be asking himself these questions: 1. Won't Dictator Stalin double-cross him on his eastern frontier? 2. Won't Signor Mussolini double-cross him on his southern border?

3. Won't he have increasing discontent to deal with at home unless he disposes of the Anglo-French combination in short order?

From Hitler's standpoint of course it will be scandalously dirty work if Stalin does dump him, but I don't find anybody who doesn't consider the Soviet leader quite capable of it.

Can't Antagonize Stalin

In fact it's pointed out that Adolf can't be overly pleased with the Russo-German trend of conditions already in Poland, along the Baltic and in the Balkans. But what's he going to do about it?—he simply can't afford to antagonize Boss Stalin in the face of the situation on his west front and at sea.

True, it isn't indicated that he's been hammered very hard yet on the west but it's predicted that he will be. There's been talk to the effect that France and Britain have been pulling their punches. American military men, however, don't pay much attention to it. They say it takes a bit of time to get three or four million Franco-British troops into action.

Germany admittedly was better prepared but experts are of the opinion that the democracies will catch up soon, especially with the American arms embargo lifted. They outclass the Fuehrer as to basic resources, anyway—unless he can get 'em from Russia. So he positively must give Stalin what the latter demands, however excessive he may think it.

into Germany (disregarding the Siegfried line) is through northern Italy.

Now, Signor Mussolini, as we know, has had an axis with Herr Hitler. Yet nobody surmises that Benito would be any more hesitant than Joe Stalin to double-cross Adolf, if it were sufficiently to Il Duce's interest—and it's conceivable that it might be.

Italy doesn't stand to profit from a German triumph. What- ever Der Fuehrer gets he'll keep, possibly somewhat at Benito's expense. Let the Anglo-French, on the opposite hand, promise the Fascist chieftain part of what he wants?—security in Ethiopia, a trifle more of northern Africa, a few Mediterranean islands, maybe an ex-German colony or two?—then what?

It should be a decided temptation to Il Duce to sell out to the Anglo-French allies.

Problem No. 3

We've discussed Adolf's problems Nos. 1 and 2. Now, No. 3. German discontent with Hitlerism!

We hear precious little of it, due to the censorship. Nevertheless there are reports that Adolf isn't 100 per cent popular in the Fatherland.

There appear to be three kinds of Germans:

1. Hitlerites. 2. Just ordinary Germans, like the German-Americans we know here—nice people. 3. The junkers, the military aristocracy. They're warlike, but they're the nobility, which presumably resents the upstart leadership of a plebeian such as Hitler.

Between groups Nos. 1 and 2 it's anybody's guess as to which is predominant. Because of the censorship, group No. 1 alone is heard from. But group No. 2 has been tinkered with by democratic propaganda. If a member of group No. 2 is caught listening in on an anti-Hitler radio broadcast he has his head cut off. Still, probably quite a few have done it. Group No. 3 likes to fight—but not under Adolf. Adolf's rumored to have had one of them assassinated for feeling that way about it.

If It Hangs On

The state, war and navy departmental reasoning is that, if the war strings along:

Adolf gradually will lose discouraged Hitlerites; that group No. 2 will quit him altogether; that the junkers literally will be ready to commit suicide, in the traditional German fashion. "Doing the German" is the expression. So he needs to "get a wiggle on," in slang language. Can he do it?

Who would be using warrants, or attempting to use them, to buy your products? Approximately 800,000 pensioners, who have been betrayed into believing in the impossible; several hundred thousand public employees—policemen, firemen, doctors, nurses, stenographers, school teachers and other city, county and state workers; tens of thousands of workers in private businesses and industries, whose firms do business with government agencies and would therefore be compelled to accept the warrants; hundreds of thousands of workers and labor men, in every category, who would find they must either accept warrants or not have work.

Of course, as you have probably concluded, this preposterous plan will break down and fail to operate after a time—but don't forget, it will be part of the State Constitution, voted there (if it passes) by California voters. And it would take at least two years to repeal it and start clearing up the wreckage.

Those two years — or possibly three or four years — would spell bankruptcy for thousands of California farmers. And YOU might be one of the thousands!

TODAY'S PROFILE
BY UNITED PRESS

It took a country apple grower to show the city politicians of Missouri some new angles of their own game and at the same time drive to cover one of the most prosperous gambling syndicates in America.

Leaders of the T. J. Pendergast Democratic machine in Kansas City smiled when Gov. Lloyd C. Stark from Pike County took office and announced he would be governor in fact as well as in name.

The Pendergast group long had dominated politics in Missouri so its chiefs saw nothing to worry about in the inauguration of a democrat whom they had helped to nominate and elect.

But the new chief executive soon upset the applecart by slashing attacks on "machine attempts to dominate our state supreme court." The mild-mannered governor proved not only to be a fighter but a master of political strategy for his supreme court candidate soundly whipped the organization man.

Bookmakers who flourished openly in Kansas City, gamblers who featured dice tables in their front windows and sponsors of night club strip-tease dancers, next felt the governor's wrath.

He inspired a state and national drive that placed control of Kansas City police in his hands and left that once-roaring town "the cleanest and quietest in the United States," according to government officials.

Stark sprung from a pioneer family that had to shoot Indians and the British redcoats when necessary, and in peace times raised apples and operated the nation's largest nursery.

His training at the U. S. Naval Academy and later as an artillery major in the Argonne probably did much to prepare him later for his fight with the country's strongest political machine.

His associates say he is tenacious, and his relentless fight against machine politics and crime seems to bear that out. He dismissed every state employee whom he had reason to believe was more loyal to the organization than to him.

Stark has carried that military training into the civil office he now occupies where he snaps orders to secretaries and stenographers. He expects, and gets, prompt action.

But at home among his wide-spread orchards, the governor who waged a successful war on political corruption, rides his thoroughbred horses, fishes and reads naval histories, resting for his next political battle.

He has announced he will attempt to take the seat now held by Sen. Harry S. Truman, also an ex-artilleryman. Truman followers recall with no pleasure that Stark, the amateur politician of four years ago, has not lost a political fight.

raid by a dozen Nazi bombers on the Fifth of North yesterday, the Royal Air Force and anti-aircraft batteries were alert for new attacks.

Indications of a return visit by British bombers to Germany were seen in reports from Holland that planes had flown toward Emden, where there were many heavy explosions near the German naval base.

Germany claimed that at least 100,000 tons of British warships had been sunk—a figure far higher than admitted as war losses by the admiralty in London. Furthermore, the Nazis stated officially, both the Royal Oak and the Repulse (which Britain denies was hit) were torpedoed in the British naval stronghold of Scapa Flow. If this claim proved true, it would mean that the Nazi U-boats had made a daring venture through mine fields and warning patrols to invade the most strongly defended den of the British lion.

There were further reports of naval fighting off the Norwegian coast, where it was believed a running battle had been in progress sporadically since Saturday when three British ships were reported to have disabled a German warship. The fighting was not officially reported, however.

JONES FAMILY IN NEW EMPIRE THEATRE FEATURE

In the hilarious picture which opens tonight at the Empire Theatre, Dad tries to get away alone to attend the American Legion convention in Los Angeles, and finds he has to take the whole family along! Jack gets tangled up with romance, Roger tries to lick the whole movie colony, Lucy takes a screen test—and poor Dad takes an aspirin.

All your favorite folks are back in their original roles in this film, all except Shirley Deane and Russell Gleason, the new mama and papa who had to stay home to mind the baby. In addition to Jed Prouty, Spring Byington, Ken Howell, Geo. Ernest, June Carlson, Florence Roberts and Billy Mahan, the cast includes William Tracy, June Gale and Marvin Stephens.

LIONS ASKED TO STAGE HALLOWEEN FETE FOR CHILDREN

Placerville Lions, in response to a request put by Scout Commissioner E. W. Zueger on behalf of Scoutmasters of the community, voted Tuesday noon to name a committee on a community Halloween observance for the children.

Such an observance was pioneered in Placerville by the club last year under the leadership of the then club president, H. E. Dillinger, acting as a committee of one.

In connection with plans for the celebration, Lions pointed out that children should be cautioned against tampering with fire hydrants in a spirit of play, since the hydrants may be left "turned on" and if a sudden cold wave comes on, they may easily be frozen and broken.

This circumstance might not be discovered until the hydrant was needed in case of fire, and the consequent property loss might be severe.

The club was addressed by Judge A. L. Pierovich, of Amador County, who was in Placerville on business, and who spoke of his recent trip to New York and the world's fair there. He found business in the eastern states definitely on the up grade, he said, expressing the belief that the wave of improvement may reach the west in due time.

Lion President Louis Arnes took a "going over" from the club members, all in good humor. The Lions had delayed "initiating" their president for several months, but they tied him in a knot Tuesday.

Work is being resumed this week on the reforestation of what is called the "Kyburz burn" on El-dorado Forest, burned over in the Labor Day weekend fire of 1929.

The reforestation project has been carried on for several years past under the Forest Service supervision, using CCC labor, with seedlings from the Forest Service nursery at Susanville.

This year's work contemplates the setting out of 73,000 seedlings by approximately eighty enrollees from Snowline CCC camp under the supervision of forest officers.

SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS URGE DEFEAT OF WARRANT PLAN

Declaring that "unsound experiments offered from time to time would wreck our honest efforts to aid in the solution of the great social problem" the California Association of School Superintendents, in their annual convention just concluded at Del Monte, went on record unanimously as opposed to the "Ham and Eggs measure" Proposition No. 1 on the November 7 ballot.

All of the fifty-eight counties of the state were represented at the meeting, there being over 300 county, city and district school superintendents in attendance.

In resolutions opposing the measure the superintendents declared: "The convention is not unmindful of the fact that there is an honest desire to aid through pensions deserving individuals who must be helped in their distress in old age but we nevertheless recognize that unsound experiments offered from time to time would wreck our honest efforts to aid in the solution of this great social problem. We feel keenly that the 'Thirty Thursday' plan has a thoroughly unsound foundation and is unworkable.

"Therefore we strongly recommend that this proposed amendment be defeated in the name of sound finance, which must govern all of our institutions."

SAN FRANCISCO, (UP)—The San Francisco Commonwealth Club announced today its membership had voted, 2,476 to 47, in disapproval of the Ham and Eggs pension amendment to be voted on by California voters Nov. 7. The vote was based on a report by a special committee which listed arguments for and against the measure after a series of hearings.
